"GODLESS SOCIETY"
VIES WITH CHURCH

Entire Population of Moscow Stays Awake To Pray or Mock; High
Carnival Is Result.

Moscow, May 5.—(United News.)—
The most intense atheist demonstrations in Russia since 1923 marked
the observance of the night before Easter
in Moscow. Today is Easter Sunday in the orthodox church calendar.

The entire population of the city
remained awake far into the night,
last night, some to pray and others to mock.

The sounds of "anti-religious" firecrackers mingled with the tolling of church bells. The churches were crowded to capacity by the faithful and the open air motion picture shows nearby
were equally attended.

Street carnivals lasted until 3 a. m.
today with the sound of music ringing through the streets. Many of the persons in the crowds were dressed in costumes ridiculing priests.

The anti-religious propaganda had been intensified in the period preceding Easter and theaters started performances at 10 p. m. for the purpose of keeping the populace from prayers. The outdoors radio loud
speakers kept up the noise all night.

Similar demonstrations were reported from other cities. All true religionists were exhorted to stay away from church. Since the days of Easter-
day, workers were urged to spend time in cultural pursuits at their
clubs and schools rather than in prayer
and feasting.

Efforts of the "society of the God-
less" to open offices and factories for workers who do not wish to celebrate Easter failed completely, however, as the government decided the confusion
would be too great if some were kept
open and some closed.

The atheists succeeded in keeping
theaters and other counter-attractions
open.

The churches, however, were not at all deserted. The Greek orthodox Easter
being the most important holiday
in Russia.

FRANCE TO ACCEPT
YOUNG DEBT PLAN

American Reparation
Compromise Creates
Anti-U. S. Feeling But Forces Accord.

Paris, May 5.—(United News.)—
France is expected to announce tomorrow its acceptance or rejection of the so-called Young compromise for settlement of the German war reparations
payments. If France and Belgium accept the compromise, it probably will mean general agreement. Germany,
England and Japan have accepted.

French official opinion was indefinite tonight but even the most hostile
newspapers indicated that there was little ground for France to refuse acceptance of the compromise, which was brought about by Chairman Owen D.

Young, of the reparations experts' committee and accepted by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief German delegate.
The experts will take the compromise under consideration formally tomorrow.

The Fit and the Unfit

No reputable product fears the light of publicity in a newspaper that goes into typical, average American homes. Today no merchant can hope to win success
by buying publicity for a shoddy product. Advertising weeds out the unfit.

That's why Constitution ads work to your benefit.
They represent the standard of quality you demand.
They mean unflinching economy—for the shoddy article turns out to be the most expensive in all cases. That's why you buy what you see advertised in The Constitution, knowing it's bound to be the newest and best, the serviceable and the wanted thing in its line.

Renews in Capital;
Mrs. Gann Snubbed FOR 3 MONTHS

Alice Roosevelt Longworth Refuses To Attend Dinner When Curtis' Hostess Is Invited.

WILL NOT AGREE
TO HIGH RATING

Diplomats' Ruling Is Scrap of Paper When Senatorial Society Leader Makes Up Her Mind.

Washington, May 5.—(United News.)—Official Washington buzzed
today with reports that her social war has broken out in a new sector. The gossip, which none of the principals
would either confirm or deny, was that Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt and wife of Speaker Longworth, of the house of representatives, has undertaken to challenge the social status of Mrs. Edward E. Gann, sister and official hostess of Vice President Curtis.

The story, which is being bandied
about clubs and drawing rooms, is
this:

Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Jr., whose husband has just retired from chairman-
ship of the federal farm loan board,
planned an important dinner party
for last night, inviting the vice president, Mrs. Gann, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth and several ambassadors with their wives. Following the decision of the diplomatic corps, which ostensibly settled the social conflict several weeks ago, the vice president and Mrs.
Gann were to be recognized as the highest ranking guests.

Society Resents Mrs. Gann.

Mrs. Longworth, when informed of the proposed seating arrangement, sent her regrets, supposedly because of her unwillingness to be subordinated to Mrs. Gann. Mrs. Gann, when informed in turn of Mrs. Longworth's refusal to attend the affair, also sent belittled regrets.

The story is given credence by repeated reports that certain members
of Washington society resented Mrs.
Gann's social pretensions and were determined, after the success of her fight
for precedence over the wives of diplomats, that she should not be allowed
"to get away with it."

Most of this resentment, it was understood, was in the senatorial circle.
It was the wives of United States
senators who were credited with starting the social controversy by refusing
the elect Mrs. Gann the honorary president of their luncheon club, a
post ordinarily bestowed upon the wife of the vice president.

Is Signal for Hostilities.

The senatorial ladies, consequently,
were the vanquished ones when the state department, under Secretary
Stimson, refused to stand by the ruling of Secretary Kellogg and washed
its hands of the entire affair, leaving
it to the diplomatic corps to make a decision in Mrs. Gann's favor.

None of the senatorial ladies have made any move. Apparently, Mrs.
Longworth, a woman of strong individuality and of unchallenged social position, took it upon herself to make the first move. So far as can be ascertained she did not have an opportunity to assert herself until the Meyer party.

According to the story, Mrs. Gann
was likewise quick to act by declining to attend the party. The result,
according to social Washington, is likely to be a conflict which would overshadow the earlier one in which wives of diplomats were involved.

Neither the Meyers nor their social secretary could be reached today
—all out of the city, their butler
said. Mrs. Longworth and the speaker,
Mrs. Gann, said she felt obliged to let
Mrs. Meyer tell the press about her party.
This much is known: Neither the vice president and Mrs. Gann nor the Longworths went out last night.

NEW BOND ISSUE
WILL BE OFFERED
COUNCIL TODAY

McCutcheon Will Present
$5,000,000 Measure;
Amendment To Uncover
Hidden Assets Planned.

One of the busiest and most important sessions of city council today is slated for 3 o'clock this afternoon when many matters affecting the progress of Atlanta are to be considered.

A proposal to float a new bond issue of $5,000,000 will be offered by Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon,
of the second ward. The author of the measure will ask that council refer the measure to the finance committee of city council for allocation
"where the improvements contemplated from the fund will serve the best interests of the largest number of Atlanta citizens."

The finance committee is headed by Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward. Both Mr. Mc-Cutcheon and Mr. Moore declared
Sunday that they have been informed that the city can issue another $5-000,000 in bonds and provide the interest and sinking funds without any increase in taxes.

Teeth For Tax Law.

Another paper intended to increase
the receipts of the city 25 to 33
per cent will be offered by Alderman
J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward and chairman of a composite committee composed of members of the council finance committee, members of the Atlanta board of education and representatives of a special
city commission named by Mayor I.
N. Tamm.

This measure is intended to place
"teeth" in the present tax laws and force entry of stocks, bonds and
other "hidden assets" on the city
tax grid for taxation. This would raise $2,000,000 in revenue and provide sufficient funds for all the city's needs including adequate funds for operation and maintenance of the Atlanta public schools system, according to authors of the measure.

Members of the composite committee will meet at 11 a. m. today
afternoon to pass on the paper which will be offered as a charter amendment by Mr. Murphy's committee at the council session.

White Issues Warning.

At the same time, Councilman
John A. White, of the fourth ward,
and author of an annexation measure to include within the city
limits highly developed outlying districts, issued a warning that the
charter revision might react to reduce the city's income.

"The Atlanta city council by its
action in declining to approve annex-
ations has placed itself on record as opposing inclusion of other territory
in the city," Mr. White declared. "If the proposed charter amendment is ratified, many of those who now live
in the city and who hold securities
taxable under the law, probably would move into the highly developed sections and would thus escape the city taxes they are paying now. This might develop that the city's income might be actually reduced instead of being increased."

Members of the police committee
of city council also will ask that $10-000 be appropriated for installation of a police radio system in order to increase the efficiency of the department and reduce crime in the city.
The paper probably will go to the finance committee for report.

City Hall Lease.

Lease of the present site of the city hall at Forsyth and Marietta
streets, to J. P. and W. H. Peacock,
of Cochran for 99 years at an aggregate rental of $6,270,000, also probably will be before council for consideration. The finance and special city hall committees will hold
a joint meeting to consider the measure at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Proposal to allocate another $100-000 of the sewer bond money to completion of the topographical survey
also is expected to be before council.
The matter already has been the subject of the sewer committee of council
and will be before the bond commission at a meeting to be held at 11 o'clock this morning.

Several other routine matters also
are slated for consideration.

7-YEAR-OLD NEGRO
NABBED BY COPS
AS BOOTLEGGER

C. C. Harper and "Bill" Holland,
members of the city vice squad Sunday night arrested the youngest transporter of liquor ever to be recorded in the annals of the Atlanta police department. A negro, J. W. Morray,
seven years old, of a Fort street address, was seen by the two officers
running on Fort street as if to hide
from someone. On investigation he was found to have a gallon can and
a quart of liquor under his arm.

The little negro told police that his mother is dead and that he lives with an uncle and that a large negro in that vicinity told him to hide the liquor or "get better up."

The officers turned the negro loose
with a warning.

FEELS NO SHAME,
SAYS ATTORNEY

No Moral Turpitude Involved in Offense for Which He Was Sentenced, Is Opinion.

Washington, May 5.—(United News.)—All is in readiness tonight
for the denouement of the seven-year-
old Teapot Dome case—the commitment to a "common jail" of Harry
F. Sinclair, millionaire oil operator.

The financier will probably start
his sentence Tuesday or Wednesday
as George Hoover, his attorney, has determined not to request lengthy delay.

Hoover does not expect Sinclair
to arrive in Washington until the day
he is to start his sentence, although
the millionaire has already sent his private business affairs in order for a three-month absence.

He has arranged to remain the nominal head of the Sinclair Consolidated oil corporation and, according to reports concerning which Hoover
said he was ignorant, has leased a home in a fashionable residential district here to house his wife and family during the period of his confinement.

The exact procedure tomorrow will be this: The clerk of the district
supreme court, on receiving the mandate to commit, will notify the United States district attorney
who will confer with Sinclair's attorney at the time of surrender.

The judge will then make out commitment papers effective at this time.

"Humiliation, Not Disgrace."

Sinclair will probably make the trip
to Washington unaccompanied and will enter the district jail with as little ceremony as possible. According to his attorney, however, Sinclair is prepared to accept his fate as a "prisoner of the District of Columbia" with his head up.

"There is no moral turpitude involved in this case," Hoover said. "He is going to jail merely because he refused to answer certain questions of counsel to answer certain questions, but not a disgrace."

Officials have not yet decided exactly where Sinclair will serve his sentence. It is conviction on a minor charge,
contempt of the senate public lands
committee, that brings Sinclair to jail. He was not convicted on the major charge.

He was convicted later on a charge
of violating the espionage laws in response to the activities during the Teapot Dome case.

The sentence for this latter offense
was six months and the appeal is likely to be developed out of the districts, issued a warning that the
charter revision might react to reduce the city's income.

"The Atlanta city council by its
action in declining to approve annex-

MANN GROUP BACK,
MUM ON MEETING

Hastings and Quinn Decline To Discuss Conference With Hoover and Patronage Situation.

Questioned at their homes Sunday
night members of Colonel Horace A.
Mann's Georgia patronage committee
maintained a strict silence, declining
either to deny or confirm any of the conflicting reports that have come from Washington following their conference with President Hoover Friday.

H. G. Hastings declined absolutely to discuss the matter, saying that
any further information must come from Washington. Major R. J. Quinn
backed Mr. Hastings' position. Neither would comment in any way on the reports that at the request of the president's secretary patronage was not discussed during the audience. Nor would they confirm or deny the report that an agreement had been reached.

The strife in the ranks of the Georgia republican factions, which was to have been settled by the Georgians'
visit to Washington, came to a head
last week when Postmaster General Brown appointed a committee, headed by Lindsey Hopkins, of Atlanta, and the inference came that the Mann
group, appointed some time before,
would not be accorded recognition.

While none of the Atlanta police

FATE OF FARM AID
RESTS ON MARGIN
OF SINGLE BALLOT

Administration Forces
Fear Passage of Deben-
ture by Senate; One Vote in Doubt.

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—The
strength the administration can command in the senate will be tested this week when a vote is taken on the export debenture plan which President
Hoover opposes as a part of his farm
relief program.

Whether the plan is to be retained
in the senate farm bill or eliminated
hinges upon one or two votes, and both sides claimed victory if their plans hold firm to the last.

Administration leaders have been concerned at the steady drift among middle western republicans toward the plan, and Senator Caraway, democrat, one of those leading the movement for inclusion of the debenture
section, claimed a majority outright.

However, upon the basis of the latest check made by administration senators, they claim 47 votes in favor of the plan and 43 against it, with 40
who are ill and the senator classed
as doubtful finally casts his ballot
with the administration group, the
result would be a tie and Vice President Curtis would be required to break it. This deduction, however, is based upon the supposition that all senators desire the plan and are not in their seats. If any should absent themselves the vote would
swing definitely one way or the other.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, who is in charge of the farm bill, does not look for a vote on the debenture section before Wednesday. A half dozen senators are expected to be absent
during the day, and the debate has probably will take two full sessions. Once the debenture section has been disposed of, however, a final vote on the farm bill itself is expected to be taken without much delay.

The close situation regarding the
debenture has engaged administration
leaders and President Hoover constantly since a drift toward the plan developed. The president, whose declaration opposing the debenture proposition was taken by Senator McNary
to mean that a veto would be forthcoming for any legislative embodying
it, has conferred with the leaders of his party and they in turn have been using all the influence to keep their forefront intact. One administration leader expressed himself as having rarely seen a more complicated situation than has been brought about
by the sentiment over the debenture
plan.

May Be Up To Curtis.

Twelve republicans are admitted
by administration leaders to have definitely decided in favor of the debenture. They also are certain of only four democrats. If pairs can be obtained with any of these democrats
for Senators Shipstead, of Minnesota,
and Kendrick, of Wyoming, both of whom are ill, and the senator classed
as doubtful finally casts his ballot
with the administration group, the
result would be a tie and Vice Pres-

Short Skirts Bring Garters
Back Into Fashion's Favor

NOVELTY BANDS PARIS' LATEST DECREE

BY PRINCESS ALI FAZIL,
United News Staff Correspondent.
Paris, May 5.—(United News.)—If
a smartly dressed woman wants to express individuality these days, she may follow the example of those who do it with garters.

The latest fad and fancy in Paris
is to decorate garters in original fashion and let them peep from under the high hem of short skirts. Fashion has brought garters back from obscurity in all their gay colors.

One of the smartest designs calls
for jewels or silver trinkets on a small band. I saw one really novel pair on one garter and a golden key on the other. Another pair had two hearts entwined.

Still others have little golden ducks
parading around the rubber band or little silver bells which tinkle as the wearer walks along the boulevard.

But there are many other fads of
fashion these days besides kneecaps.
There is, for example, nothing smarter than straw neckties. Judging by

Police Committee To Ask For Radio Installation At Council Meeting Today

Sum of $10,000 To Be Requested For Modern Wireless System To Speed Protection.

Installation of a police radio system will be asked of city council at its session this afternoon in order to "increase the efficiency of the department and reduce crime in Atlanta."

Members of the police committee at a session Wednesday night voted unanimously to ask $10,000 for the system. This paper will be offered with a request that the finance committee "find the required sum to place the equipment into the hands of the committee at once."

Several weeks ago, council appropriated money to send O. H. Pendley, secretary of the Atlanta police department, to Detroit to study the system in operation there, and Mr. Pendley reported that crime in certain sections of the city has been reduced 75 per cent due to the efficiency and speed of the system.

His enthusiastic endorsement of the proposal led the committee to seek to install a similar system here. Every member of the police committee will take the floor to seek the appropriation at once. Every member of city council has been furnished a copy of the report which Mr. Pendley filed with the police committee.

Murphy Explains Plan.
Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward and chairman of the police committee, Sunday declared the system would be a distinct advantage to Atlanta in that persons wishing immediate police protection could get it without the necessity of waiting for call officers to come all the way from the police station to the scene of the call.

"If the plan is adopted, four of the automobiles of the department will be equipped with radio receiving sets tuned in with a broadcasting station to be operated by the department," Mr. Murphy said.

"These machines will be assigned for patrolling different sectors of the city. When a call is received at the police station it will be relayed at once to the machine operating in the section from which the call came, and the time of the appearance of the police on the scene of the disturbance will be cut down materially."

"This will permit us to abolish the call office and at the same time better police the city. It will be a distinct advantage to the people of Atlanta, and at the same time will react to make law breakers fear the speed with which the department responds to emergency calls. Every member of our committee is convinced

it will be a good and lasting investment."

Penalties Report.
Mr. Pendley's statement regarding the operation of the Detroit system and its effectiveness follows:

"The Detroit broadcasting station is three miles from police headquarters where all calls originate. The dispatcher at police headquarters has a call which a cruiser should answer. He plugs in, the radio transmitter is started, and in about three seconds he can give the order into the microphone."

"When the dispatcher plugs in, lights flash in the transmitter room. The operator picks up an ordinary telephone receiver, listens to the dispatcher repeat the order twice, then takes it up and repeats it several times so as to be certain that the men in the car have heard it. He then waits about two minutes and repeats it again, spelling the names of streets, and giving the men the exact location of the address to be visited, which he has determined by consulting a street guide while he was calling out the order. When the men in the car have attended to the matter, they immediately to the nearest telephone and report what they found, what action they took, and the length of time required to make the run. The exact time of the call, and the exact time of the report by the men is entered in a record book, and this book is carefully checked against the daily report of the officers."

"Upon going on duty, the radio operator tests all receivers by means of a regular test call. The officer in command of the car immediately reports by telephone that his receiver is in working order, and that information is then passed on to the dispatcher. Incidentally, the dispatcher is promptly notified when any receiver is out of service and when it is back in service."

"It is a rare thing that more than three or four minutes is required for a car to make a run to the scene of a crime, and it is only in cases where the car must travel the entire length of the precinct that it takes that long. The usual elapsed time between the broadcast and the arrival of the car at the scene of the crime is one to one and a half minutes."

"Commissioner Rutledge told me that he considered the radio the most effective single unit in his department. The men with whom I talked, and I talked to a great many of them, said the same thing. The seventh precinct is the toughest precinct in Detroit. I asked Inspector Frank Burezyk, in command of the seventh, to estimate the extent by which crime in his precinct had been reduced as a direct result of radio. After some thought he replied that in his judgment crime had been reduced at least 75 per cent by the radio. I asked Sergeant M. A. Brown, in command of the seventh precinct cruiser day crew, the same question. He estimated it at 75 to 80 per cent. He stated that where formerly they had had from one to three factory and house burglaries every day, they rarely have one now, and that not a single felonious crime had been committed in his precinct in more than three weeks."

"The police department's radio has been so effective in combating crime that the state of Michigan has now taken it up, and while it was in Detroit a bill was passed in the legislature authorizing its installation in all the counties. The Detroit department had lent its radio superintendent to Chicago to supervise the installation of radio in that city."

"The Detroit department is now making up receivers to equip 42 additional cars. Only 8 are now equipped, these being Lincoln touring cars. The 42 additional radio-equipped cars will be Fords, and when these are placed in service they will do away with all call officers and put them to patrolling the streets in radio-equipped cars. Certainly an officer is more effective when patrolling the streets than when hanging around police headquarters, and by the same token, an officer actually patrolling is more effective when he is patrolling by radio than when he is patrolling by foot call, but the men have learned to co-operate in a way to nullify the damage of such calls. For example, one night a call was sent to No. 6 cruiser to go to a certain place where some hi-jackers were holding up a blind pig. The place happened to be the precinct that I am in. Within three minutes another call was sent to No. 6 cruiser to go to a place in the extreme western end of the precinct where some trouble was reported. They arrived at the first place, found no disturbance, and started immediately to the second place, five miles away. Upon arrival there, they found that No. 10 cruiser was already on the scene and had arrested several armed men who were caught in the act of holding up a bootlegger's establishment. Number 10 had heard both calls, and had directly figured out that the first call was a fake intended to draw No. 6 away from the place where a robbery was to be pulled off, and had answered the call at 75 to 80 per cent."

"Cruisers travel at a terrific rate of speed. I rode with them when they were making more than twenty miles per hour on wet pavements, and in spite of the fact that they are not allowed to use sirens they have had no accidents. The absence of sirens on these cars is one point that I want to be down on. There is no use in spending a lot of money to equip a car with radio, and then render it useless by shrieking a tip-off to the very people you want to catch."

Dog Track Owner Claims Operation Not Unlawful

Union City, Ga., May 5.—(AP)—In a statement today C. H. Gullatt, owner and operator of the Dixie Lakes greyhound race track, where events were run off last night pending hearing on an injunction to restrain any form of betting at the track, said the plan of operation of the races did not violate any law of Georgia.

The injunction was obtained yesterday by Solicitor-General Claude C. Smith, of Campbell county, at Decatur, and a hearing on the temporary order has been set for Tuesday at Fairburn, county seat of Campbell county.

Meanwhile, Gullatt, who has served four years in the state legislature and is representative-elect from Campbell county, holds firm in the contention that the races will be run off as scheduled, unless halted by a court order.

Solicitor-General Smith said the restraining order was directed at gambling at the track and not at the races.

The owner said he had a lease agreement on all dogs running at the track and that as owner of the plant, he had the right to gratuitously distribute earnings as he saw fit.

A court order halted operation of the track when it was first opened about 18 months ago.

Gullatt issued a statement today as follows:

"Before opening my greyhound race track at Dixie Lakes on May 3, I thoroughly familiarized myself with the gaming laws of the state of Georgia and devised and had copyrighted a plan for operation of the track

which would in no way violate these laws."

"I, of course, submitted the plan to able attorneys and got their opinion before proceeding. I would have been foolish to have done otherwise in view of the fact I was borrowing the money from my friends in Campbell county to start this business."

"Besides that I am an observer of the law myself, and I try to obey all the laws and I am in favor of everyone else doing the same."

"I have taken every precaution to see that no form of gambling took place either directly or indirectly on or about my premises at any time. The sheriff of Campbell county and his deputies have been present some part or all the time each night that the races have been run and they have been diligent to see that no law was violated."

"In the meantime the races will go on on identically the same plan of operation unless there is some court order which prevents it."

The Dixie Lakes track, where the dog races are run, is located about 17 miles from Atlanta.

One Reason Why The Food is so Good

GOOD restaurants do not think of saving ice when the temperature outside calls for overcoats. They wouldn't risk it. Ice costs them little compared to the value of food quality and flavor which it protects. The same is true in your home. It is false economy to buy ice by the calendar. You need it every day in the year.

The quality of the food you buy is no doubt as good as that served in the best hotel or restaurant in town. An efficient refrigerator filled with crystal-pure ice will keep your food wholesome, and protect the flavor.

GEORGIA CONCERNS GET TIRE MILL CONTRACTS

Goodyear Mill at Rockmart To Begin Operation in September.

Rockmart, Ga., May 5.—(Special.) Georgia concerns have received a majority of the contracts let in Akron, Ohio, by officials of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. for construction of the big mill building to be built here by the company. Out of the $1,750,000 general contract, a total of $1,500,000 went to two Georgia companies.

Construction of the building, involving $750,000, was awarded to A. K. Adams & Co., Atlanta general contractors, and the contract for a mill village of approximately 400 houses, at a figure of $750,000, was let to Watson Cook Company, of West Point, Ga. Structural steel work contracts for $250,000 was let to the Virginia Bridge & Iron Co.

The mill building is scheduled to be completed by September 1, and the mill houses a month later. The Goodyear Company plans to begin operations at the new plant September 1, it was announced. The mill will be equipped with 60,000 spindles for production of tire cord and fabric to be used in the production of tires.

Extension of the water and sewage systems to the mill site now is being made by the city of Rockmart, which also is opening new streets and widening old ones to accommodate the influx of population. Between 2,500 and 3,000 workers will be brought to the new mills and Rockmart is increasing its school system to take care of the situation.

Interest in Aviation Here Shows City Gone Air Minded

ATLANTA SEEN AS SOUTH'S FLYING HUB

BY C. B. WILMER, JR.

Atlanta has gone "air minded." Local interest in aviation is increasing by leaps and bounds and the Gate City of the south is on the verge of a marvelous expansion in all matters pertaining to aeronautics which will firmly establish her position even more as the hub of all aviation activities in this section of the United States.

This, at least, is the firm belief of a large number of local people who are interested in aviation either as pilots, officials in air lines, or who, as forward looking citizens are endeavoring to further plans looking toward development of aviation interests here which will put Atlanta in the lead not only in the south but in the entire country as well.

The city has purchased Candler field and the actual work of grading and improving has begun. Plans have been announced for the construction of an airplane factory here. Four air mail lines maintain regular schedules to Chicago, New York, New Orleans and Miami with connections for any part of the United States. Atlanta is headquarters for the district supervising inspector of the department of commerce, Leo C. Wilson, who, with two assistants, cover the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. Approximately 40 people in Atlanta and Georgia have been issued licenses as pilots and many more make their headquarters here as pilots for the numerous air mail routes. More than a score have applied for licenses to Mr. Wilson.

Still others are training in private flying schools. And what is considered most important of all, the public at large is awakening to the fact that aviation is here to stay, and this increased interest must necessarily have a beneficial effect.

Trade Club Active.

As a proof of this awakened interest, the work of the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club may be cited. Following the purchase of Candler field, this organization called a special aviation luncheon at which time efforts were made to assemble men who represented all aviation interests in the city.

The result of this was the reorganization of the Atlanta chapter of the National Aeronautical Association as the first step in the consolidation of the various local clubs, air companies and similar bodies.

Under the direction of Captain Stanford E. Moses, the chairman of the aviation committee of the Foreign Trade Club, a list of over 200 names has been compiled representing former pilots, active pilots, members of the Atlanta Flying Club, the Capital City Aero Club, and in fact all who might be in any way interested in flying or any of its branches.

Letters have been sent out to all persons on this list inviting them to attend a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Ansley hotel, and the result is expected to be the largest gathering devoted exclusively to the subject of aviation in the history of the city. At this time plans will be discussed for increasing the membership of the local N. A. A. chapter.

License Not Necessary.

It has been pointed out that it is emphatically not necessary to be a pilot to become a member of this organization, as the motivating idea is to secure a chapter here which will consolidate all aviation interests in Atlanta and be in a position to function as an active branch of the national body, the exclusive representative in the United States of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the world-governing body for aircraft performances.

Among other things, the N. A. A. has as its purposes the furthering of the developments of aeronautics on both a local and a national scale through the co-operation of the local chapters with the national organization; planning, supervising and regulating American attempts to establish new world records in aircraft tests; planning supervising and regulating aeronautical meets, recording the official performances of American aircraft; bringing about the general development of the aeronautical industry through its never-ending campaign to make "America first in the air," and developing the airways of the nation by urging the employment of air transport routes by the general public for travel, business and pleasure.

The meeting of the local chapter last week was attended by some 60 people. It is hoped that the meeting Monday will be attended by three times this number, if not more.

London, May 5.—(United News.)—A local judge threatened that he would turn the next person who laughed out of court, whereupon the prisoner in the dock had hysterics.

FLY FRUIT RATE. Seaboard Cuts Charges To Aid Fight on Pest.

Winter Haven, Fla., May 5.—(P)—Reduction in freight charges on export shipments of Florida citrus through Tampa and Jacksonville, amounting to about $80 a car have been made by the Seaboard Air Line railway.

The action was taken by the railroad to help the state in the present shipping emergency caused by the Mediterranean fruit fly invasion.

Insured Buying

There's a way of insuring your buying against wasted money and unsatisfactory merchandise. And that insurance costs you not a penny. It is always paid up to date and in full force.

That insurance is the advertising here in The Constitution. Advertised products are standardized, perfected and carefully priced before they are ever advertised.

Whether you are buying soap, clothing, shoes, toothpaste, food or electrical household appliances, the result is the same. You get reliable, economical merchandise whenever you buy by the advertisements.

Make up your insured shopping list in the comfort and quiet of your own home. Compare the merits of the products advertised. Study the way in which each is adapted to your needs.

You'll find advertising truthful, informing and interesting. That's the only sort that pays, you know.

Every dollar you spend on advertised merchandise in The Constitution is insured against waste.

SCHOOLS AND ROADS.

The relation between good roads and good schools has become one of the major studies of the education and highways departments of the federal government. Researches have been conducted to reveal how interdependent the two paramount interests are, and the revelations account for the urge in many states to link together the public school and the highway advancements.

Doubtless those co-relations were in the minds of such authorities as W. D. Anderson, of Macon; Howard Coffin and George Foster Peabody when they severally advised that Georgia should authorize adequate bond issues to advance both institutions—the schools and the highways—with equal pace and effectiveness.

It has been found that hard paved roads facilitate the consolidation of rural schools, improving their efficacy and economizing school costs. At the same time the advantages of consolidated schools create a general demand for hard roads over which the pupils can easily travel or be transported.

Surprising results to the betterment of both the schools and roads have been found in many states and the reports detailing them are available at the departments in Washington and will well repay study by the administrations and legislators of this state before the general assembly convenes in June.

PROHIB AND THE PRESS.

The latest grievance of the protagonists of prohibition is that the press of the country is in a general conspiracy to decry and defeat the enforcement of the prohibition policy. They are writing letters of reproach to many newspapers, accusing them of tactics of "nullification."

This stratagem of prohibition defense is unwarranted. The press is engaged in no such conspiracy and has no personal incentive to nullify or defeat the intents of the prohibition laws, justly and judiciously administered.

But the press is the great American informer and monitor, collecting the news of the nation and commenting frankly upon its revelations and its incidences upon national life. The performance of those public services is duty to the people, the public welfare and the proper progress of civilization.

There can be a quite rational sympathy with the disappointments of prohibitionists that the scheme of national de-alcoholization, so long cherished and eventually set up by them, is not working as they promised and believed it would. The chagrin that follows their disillusion is easily understandable, but efforts to camouflage it will not change facts and sustain a false constitutional theorem.

The trouble with the protesting letter-writers referred to is that they do not write from the record of facts, while the newspapers have the full current of those facts, by wire and by print, under their eyes every day that comes and goes. The view-range of the letter writer is usually either local or introverted. He does not value correctly what he sees and hears, but insists upon the invisible things he wishes or imagines.

Hence the inability of the average defender of the present system to understand the office and attitude of the reputable press in dealing with the problem. The office is to give the facts fully and broadly to the public knowledge

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Mussolini and D'Annunzio.

The estrangement between Mussolini and D'Annunzio, for long a matter of whispers and gossip, can no longer be denied, and the Italian press is at last permitted to comment upon the quarrel that has been smoldering for long between the two great "Commandantes." On several occasions D'Annunzio wanted to visit France, notably at the time of the presentation of the American newspaper, correspondent there met in a hotel daily to exchange all the news, and it was agreed that no one would scoop the other.

Swope, however, managed to get a beat the first day, and the lady was greatly bothered. They wrote a complaint to the Evening World's publisher, but first post on their bulletin board for the signatures of the mob. The letter ran:

"We urge the recall of your Swope, who has made enemies of us all already by violating our unwritten law, etc."

When Swope saw it he affixed his own signature and it was posted. A week later he was recalled and upon his arrival he was rewarded with the editorship of the morning World.

"The divorce, however, just or unjust, is a fact. It is a pity that the divorce of the two great figures of the Italian scene should be so public. It is a pity that the divorce should be so public. It is a pity that the divorce should be so public."

ANTI-MELLON NONSENSE.

The country has the anomalous spectacle of the United States senate debating the right of Mr. Mellon to be secretary of the treasury because he has invested some of his millions in stocks of business enterprises, while the same crowd is making goo-goo eyes at President Hoover down in the White House, who is operating a 4,313-acre farm in California, confessedly "as a business enterprise."

Farmer Hoover does not plow, or sow, or reap in persona propria—not so one can see him at it—but he employs 200 hands, with a payroll of $75,000 per annum. And as president he has more actual power over the most potential industry of the nation—agriculture—than Secretary Mellon has over all the other businesses of the country, perhaps.

President Hoover's vineyards produce 600,000 pounds of ten varieties of grapes capable of being easily converted into "Dago red," which is a common form of home-bred hooch.

The cotton growers of the south should repose hope in the personal sympathy of Planter Hoover when they learn that he has some 300 acres in cotton; and our melon growers will trust to his specific interest in their industry when they know that on the Hoover farm there are 90 acres of watermelons and muskmelons.

Of course it is not made public how much of the president's fortune is planted in the stocks of other business enterprises, but it is known that he pays a thumping big income tax annually into the national treasury.

The nub of the situation is why we should have all this senatorial cat-chasing of Mellon because of his business investments.

Certainly the public will expect that there is enough American horse-sense left in the United States senate to put a prompt and emphatic snuffer upon this anti-Mellon nonsense.

THE MOTORIST WORMS TURN.

In the old days of distilleries, breweries and saloons the liquor dealers were the easy marks for the raisers of national, state and local revenues. When more money was needed by the official bunches they pounced upon the liquor men and compelled them to come across with taxes and license fees to whatever limit.

Now, however, with the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act shutting off those reservoirs of revenues, the governments are finding substitute easy marks in the motorists of the nation. While there were only some 200,000 liquor dealers in the Union at any one time there are 24,000,000 plus owners of motor vehicles, everyone of whom is a fair target for a miscellaneous assortment of taxes.

The taxes, licenses and fees paid to the states by the motorists last year amounted to largely over $300,000,000, and with additional states imposing gasoline taxes and other states increasing them, the 1929 payments by the motor owners is expected to reach the $400,000,000 mark.

All this great sum is paid for the privilege of owning a motor car and to help build good roads, but only two-thirds of the total went for road purposes of any kind.

There are signs that the 20,000,000 owners of motor vehicles are about to organize for protection against the orgy of taxation levied upon them and carry their cases to the legislatures of the states with demands for just and equitable treatment.

Floridians did not take a flying trip to the Mediterranean sea by hand. They had the Mediterranean fly right at hand.

If there is any money left out of the $5,000,000 set aside to fight the Mediterranean fly let's use it on the American fly.

YOUR BROADWAY AND MINE

BY WALTER WINCHELL.

Associated Press has discovered that "whoopie" is not a new word.

Associated Press has discovered that "whoopie" is not a new word. The news bureau burned up its wires notifying subscribers that: "Hay, whoopie! Hay, whoopie! Whoopie! Go your own way lightly," was in a 1930 Marco play; that Shakespeare called it "hoopie," and that Sanskrit had it "hoopie."

Constant readers will tell you that the A. P. plagiarized those same reports, almost word for word, from this corner, which so noted at least a dozen weeks ago.

But what we started to thrill over was observing that the cowboys didn't originate it, after all; and that the word aroused no recognition, controversy or research work—until Broadway revived it.

—The Bridgeport (Conn.) Telegram.

TCH-TCH-TCH.

"Whoopie!" That is probably one of the most commonly used words to-day, and yet there really is no such word. It had its origin, they tell us, in Walter Winchell's column. He used it pertaining to wild doings—to having a great time—or hence, as we find it today—to "making whoopie!"

—The Bridgeport (Conn.) Telegram.

THE MAIN STEM ON A SUNNY AFTERNOON.

Immense weather for the idlers, but poison for the limping plays. This is supposed to be the time of the year when most actors wish they had saved at least a dollar a week. . . . But the groups who park in front of the Bond and Palace buildings are a prosperous looking crowd. "I hear Bobbe Arnet, Harry Fender, Lou Holtz and Will Mahoney have been signed for Ziegfeld's 'Show Girl' and 'The Great Gatsby' and how to drive a 1921 Franklin. . . . Race track followers who clog up the United Cigar Store phone. . . . There goes James Thornton, one of the better monologists. . . . Your mammy and pappy hummed or whistled or sang his imperishable 'When You Were Sweet Sixteen.'"

A FORM OF CRITICISM.

For our Crisp Crack From Critical Cusses Department: The anecdote in the Nieu Yauker by A. Woolcott, who chronicles about James Whitaker, who was taken to the N. Y. Daily News, Whitaker had severely wedded Ina Claire and the news leaked out when somewhere in Whitaker's report on "The Gold Diggers" he flippantly remarked: "When I married Miss Claire she gave her profession as that of an actress, but I saw nothing in last night's proceedings at the Lyceum to justify the description."

The divorce, however, just or unjust, is a fact. It is a pity that the divorce of the two great figures of the Italian scene should be so public. It is a pity that the divorce should be so public. It is a pity that the divorce should be so public.

THE SCOOPEE-MAKERS.

After all these to-dos, the esteemed Frank J. Wiltsch: It's a secret. Al Klein: No like.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION NOMINATES OFFICERS

Resolution Passed Pledging
R. E. Gann Support in Aldermanic Race.

R. T. Pavlovsky and V. C. Terry were nominated for president of the Atlanta Typographical Union, No. 48, at a regular meeting of the union Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Labor Temple. Roy Gill was the only nominee for vice president. The officers will be voted upon at the annual election of officers during the latter part of the month. Mr. Pavlovsky was nominated by Luther Still, retiring president of the union.

When names for delegates to the International convention to be held in Seattle, Wash., in September, were solicited it was learned that 12 applicants had submitted their names. The union will have a delegation of two representatives who will be selected at the annual election of officers.

A resolution pledging the entire support of the union to Robert E. Gann, candidate for re-election for alderman from the sixth ward, was unanimously adopted at the meeting. The resolution follows:

"Be it resolved, That we, members

ONE DEAD, 2 HURT WHEN PLANE FALLS IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, May 5.—(AP)—A man was fatally injured, another may die and a girl was seriously hurt when an airplane crashed shortly after it had left the Oklahoma City airport.

MRS. C. M. GRAY DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Was Instrumental in Building of Atlanta Lutheran Church.

Senola, Ga., May 5.—(Special)—Mrs. C. M. Gray, 84, widow of Captain Benjamin Gray, and former Atlanta resident, died this morning at the residence here of her son-in-law and daughter, Colonel and Mrs. Sam W. Wilkes. She had been in failing health for some time.

Member of a distinguished South Carolina family, Mrs. Gray was married to Captain Benjamin Gray, who was an officer in the Confederate army and served with distinction in the battle of Gettysburg. He died later of his wounds in a military hospital at Macon.

At Mrs. Gray's death she still owned the large plantation and family home in Coweta county, which was granted to Captain Gray's father by the state.

It was largely through the generosity of Mrs. Gray that the Atlanta Lutheran Church of the Redeemer was built. During her residence here she made many friends. She was an earnest Christian worker.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock Monday morning here.

Also the special committee investigating the Fulton-DeKalb merger will make its report.

MICHAELSON CASE TRIED THIS WEEK IN FLORIDA COURT

Key West, Fla., May 5.—(AP)—Congressman M. Alfred Michelson, of the seventh Illinois district, Chicago, tonight was believed to be here to stand trial on charges of prohibition law violation during the six-day term of federal court beginning tomorrow.

There appeared little likelihood that Michelson's case would be called for trial tomorrow, as it was understood that most of the day would be consumed in setting the docket for the coming week. It probably will be Tuesday or later before the trial gets under way.

Congressman Michelson was indicted last fall by a federal grand jury in Jacksonville, on charges of unlawful importation, transportation and possession of intoxicating liquor.

The indictment followed discovery in the Jacksonville Terminal station of a leaking trunk, containing liquor, which government agents claim was the property of the congressman. The trunk was en route from Havana.

Congressman Michelson has served several terms in congress and is a member of the house rivers and harbors committee. He is said to have lent his support to the Jones prohibition law, which recently was enacted.

DRIVER IN CRASH RELEASED AFTER MAKING $1,000 BOND

H. C. Hanken, 35, of 303 Jackson street, N. E., was released from police station late Saturday night after posting a bond of $1,000, after being charged with having driven an automobile that Friday night crashed into a car driven by A. D. Banks, Jr., yard foreman of the Central of Georgia railroad on Lee street near Camp Jessup.

Hanken was taken to Grady hospital late Friday night in an unconscious condition by A. R. Childs, of 1054 Orlando street, who told police that the driver of the other car fled before police arrived.

Police investigating the accident Saturday learned that Hanken did stop his machine after the crash and gave his name to witnesses and then left the scene. He was located through those witnesses police stated Saturday.

PRIDMORE RESIGNS FERTILIZER POST FOR POTASH FIRM

Washington, May 6.—(Special)—J. C. Pridmore, of Atlanta, director of the southern division, soil improvement committee, the National Fertilizer Association, has resigned, effective July 1, to become affiliated with the American Potash & Chemical Corporation with headquarters in New York. It is announced by Charles J. Brand, executive secretary of the association at Washington.

In making the announcement, Mr. Brand said: "Mr. Pridmore has been an outstanding figure in the southern agricultural educational activities. In going with the American Potash & Chemical Corporation he will continue to give constructive assistance in aiding this country to meet one of its greatest economic and social problems—the maintenance of soil fertility."

The American Potash & Chemical Corporation supplies about 20 per cent of the annual consumption of potash in the United States and is the principal American producer.

AFTER 39 YEARS BOX OFFICE MAN GOES TO SEE SHOW

Boston, May 5.—(United News.)—Vincent Featherstone recently attended a performance of "The Beggar's Opera." It was the first play he had seen in 39 years. During that period, he sold more than 1,000,000 tickets at the box office of the Hollis theater.

American Psychiatric Body Convenes in Atlanta May 13

With nearly 200 registrations already received and about 300 more expected, plans for the annual convention of the American Psychiatric Association, to be held during the week of May 13 at the Biltmore hotel, are nearing completion.

The assembling here of a half thousand of the country's best known experts on mental and nervous troubles will mark the first time that Atlanta ever has had the opportunity of acting as host to the psychiatric association, and, in point of fact, the first time that the southeast has even seen so distinguished a gathering of men who are pioneering in a still little known but admittedly important field of medicine.

Knowledge Available. With the assembling of these men here large groups of laymen will be afforded a rare opportunity to learn something of this science that plays so great a part in human life and about which the layman knows so little.

These doctors, who are experts in mental and nervous disturbances, will address various clubs and professional groups in an attempt to give to the public a little better understanding of their work.

Among the groups who already have indicated their desire to hear some of these authorities are the Fulton County Medical Society and the Parent-Teacher Association of the E. Rivers county school.

In discussing the forthcoming meet Dr. Newdigate Owensby, only Atlanta member of the association, was emphatic in his wish that the public might understand at the start that these men who are coming here are not doctors whose only patients are "crazy" persons.

Nervous Disorders. In point of fact, only a small percentage of them, merely those who are connected with specialized institutions, have insane persons as their only patients. The great bulk of psychiatrists in private practice deal with nervous disorders, which, untreated, might induce insanity or serious functional disorders of a purely physical nature.

Dr. Owensby points out that, in many communities, the psychiatrist more and more is consulted regularly, as one consults his family doctor. As the general practitioner keeps the physical portion of the body running well, so the psychiatrist discovers and corrects nervous disorders.

Among the many well known doctors to attend this meeting are many who are examples of psychiatrists who specialize in this prevention and correction work rather than in treating those actually insane. Dr. Elizabeth Martin, of Wellesley college, Warren, R. I., examines every young woman who enters that school and then watches over them for nervous disorders.

Through her care many nervous maladjustments are corrected before they lead to serious nervous and mental collapse. Dr. Glenn Myers, of Los Angeles, has many movie stars under his care and keeps them mentally and nervously healthy in spite of nerve-racking work. So in many sections of the country and through many agencies the psychiatrists are seeking to reach their prospective patients long before they are actually insane and are trying to educate the people into seeing that it is no disgrace to be mentally and nervously ill, and it is no disgrace to consult a psychiatrist should one be so.

in Atlanta's history

ALTHOUGH our prices are cheaper now, the quality of the dry cleaning is better than ever. If you could weigh the cleanliness—the fresh, dainty appearance we give to a dress or coat—

If you could measure how much you get of renewed lustre and color for silks, how much of trim, moulded neatness in wool garments—you could tell more easily the value these laundries give.

But there's no instrument to measure dry cleaning values—except your eye. We ask you to look closely at the quality of our dry cleaning. Notice the care for details, the extra fine appearance your garments have when handled by our experts.

There's dry cleaning and dry cleaning. It costs you no more to use our high quality service.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.
Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is crushed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well-known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble, she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Toward the end of the day he tells her that he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street. Dr. Travers, who shares the office, tells her that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend her for it. The only hitch in the plan is that they want a married doctor, and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new job, Rex turns a deaf ear. Joy, who has been listening to the doctors' colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her, and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she makes it.

INSTALLMENT VII.
THE MISSING RING.
Joy answered promptly, mechanically, as though she had been told to read the words from a sheet of paper in front of her. In fact, she scarcely knew what she was going to say before, dictated by inner anguish, it was pronounced aloud in her "thoroughly efficient secretary" voice.
"Because I thought, Dr. Travers, that you might think better of what Dr. Locke was talking to you about just now. That offer of the practice in the south of France, with those ladies who stipulate for a married man. Dr. Locke said it would be an excellent thing. It would solve your difficulties, he said, if you found some one to marry—officially. Couldn't I do? You see, you would still want a secretary. I am accustomed to your work. I could take a pound a week instead of three, since I should be living in the house." (She thought "in all the months I've worked here, he hasn't heard me say as many words as in the last two minutes.")
"Dr. Locke seemed to think that you could come to a business arrangement. So I thought I might let you know that I should be ready to marry you on those terms."

Without flinching she looked up into the astounded, wary, slightly amused, exasperated blue eyes that met her own. Rapidly she thought "one couldn't say that out, point blank, if one looked upon him as a man?"
How some women would have opened their eyes at that! Miss Ford, for instance, the banished secretary with the vamp earrings. How indignant would have been her "What? Doesn't look upon her Travers as a man?" Indeed the quality of him, as well as every detail of his appearance (growth of strong gold swept back from his white, plane clear and direct as that of a stately animal, firm drawing of features, power latent in every line of his face) was definitely, even ultra-masculine. Lost upon Joy, lost upon Joy, for whom, of course, all masculinity was clothed in a frame boyishly slight, a dark, self-consciously vicious face, a type "artistic" to its finger tips. As for Travers with his Nordic fairness, harmoniously powerful build, and poised serenity, he might as far as his girl secretary was concerned have been any piece of consulting room furniture.
He knew that. (Somewhere in his mind's unconscious depths he resented that.)
In any case, he had better put things very quickly in the right light for this grievously mistaken young woman.

"Miss Harrison, I'm afraid, you know, that one can scarcely take everything seriously that Dr. Locke chooses to say. He was, of course, joking."
The girl said, as if she had been asked if some patient had been told of an altered address, "I don't think he was. . . I think he thought it would be a feasible plan."
"I don't think we need discuss it," said Travers, in the tone of one who shuts a door.
"It said nothing."
"It was a manifestly preposterous suggestion, Miss Harrison."
She said nothing.
Please look at them for a moment. See the small room, irradiated with late afternoon sunlight. Outside it, tall houses of Harley street cutting the London sky, hoots of passing taxis, twitter of ubiquitous London sparrows. Inside, these two people upon each of whom had swooped catastrophe. The big, white-jacketed ruined doctor; the velvet, thrown-over-girl. He stood, pausing for a moment's thought; looking at her. She sat. Blank as a wall, behind which

Ambitious National League Teams Pass Through Week of Surprises.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Pennant contenders in the American league maintained an even gait of victory through the week's campaign ending last night, but ambitious National league teams found their paths strewn with many unpleasant surprises in the same period. The Braves, with three victories and no defeats, and the Reds, with three out of four, topped the older circuit as the Cardinals, the Cubs and the Giants faltered. The Browns, the A's and the Yanks won eleven and lost only two among them.

HANLON OFFERS SNAPPY CARD

Short Bouts Promise Much Action Tuesday Night.

Eddie Hanlon Tuesday will give fans of the city another of his popular card bouts with each bout lasting six rounds.

Hanlon has the idea that shortening of a bout—even the head liner—forces the boys to go at top speed the way and to keep them from stalling along in the middle rounds, getting ready for a rushing finish in the final rounds. He has tried the idea out before and has met with fair success.

The headline attraction will bring together Glenn Chaney and George Avera for a six-round bout. Though not as experienced Chaney will extend Avera to the limit. He is a young boy with a fair amount of ring knowledge. During his career in the ring he has defeated some good fighters.

Marshall Cardale, LaGrange, Ga., will take on Young Tommy Oglesby, Atlanta boy, in the second feature bout of the evening. Another Atlanta favorite will be seen in action when Young Jack Dempsey steps in the ring with Bobby Duggins, Tulsa scrapper.

Two other bouts, bringing together Spencer Carter and Ralph Taylor and Sid Lucas and Paul Morgan, will round out a well-balanced boxing card. Hanlon believed that these bouts have arranged one of the best card seen in Atlanta in some time. Plenty of action should result from the short bouts, is Eddie's contention.

Commodore Feds Tie Railway, 5-5

Southern Railway and the Commodore Feds battled to a 5-5 tie Sunday afternoon at Hyde Park. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning.

The Feds were forced to overcome a lead gained in the third inning by the Railway nine and by scoring one run in the seventh frame broke even with their opponents. The Railway team scored one run in the third inning and the Feds rallied to score three and take the lead. In the sixth inning the Southern Railway broke out with a four-run jag and again went into the lead. The Feds added one in the sixth and one in the seventh to tie the count.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER SEES THE QUEEREST SIGHT.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Mother Nature does arrange Her affairs in ways most strange. —Peter Rabbit.

Little Mrs. Peter Rabbit was quite provoked. Yes, sir, she was quite provoked. She insisted that Peter spend no time at all in the dear Old Briar-patch. It is true that he didn't spend a great deal of time there. Really, little Mrs. Peter, from her point of view, had reason to be provoked. She said as much to Peter. In fact, she told it to him many times.

Now, Peter is naturally good-natured, but he does once in a while lose his temper. After he had listened to Mrs. Peter's complaints as long as he could, he stamped as only Peter can stamp. "If you talked less, perhaps I would stay at home more," said he. "But the more you talk, the less I want to stay home."

With this he turned his back on little Mrs. Peter. One could hardly blame Peter for wanting to be out and about these spring days. There was a great deal to see. There was much to hear. If Peter had been less curious, it might have been easier for him to stay in the dear Old Briar-patch. But you know how full of curiosity Peter Rabbit is.

So not even his duty to little Mrs. Peter could keep him at home. The one thing that Peter was most interested in was the home of the Wood Ducks. He had seen Mrs. Wood Duck enter a certain hole in a certain dead tree. That hole was very high up from the ground. He had seen Mrs. Wood Duck do this more than once and each time he saw it he wanted to pinch himself to make sure that he saw what he thought he saw. It was very, very hard work to believe that a Duck of any kind would nest in a hole in a tree like a Woodpecker or an Owl. But Beauty the Wood Duck had told Peter that a hole in a tree or a stump was always their choice for a home. So there was nothing for Peter to do but to believe Beauty and his own eyes.

Beauty had told Peter that Mrs. Wood Duck would be sitting on the eggs for two or three weeks. It would have made it easier for Peter if Beauty had told him exactly how many days Mrs. Wood Duck would be sitting on the eggs. You see, Peter wanted to be on hand when those eggs hatched. He couldn't imagine how those ducklings were going to get down out of that tree and Beauty wouldn't tell him. So Peter was determined to be on hand when the great event took place. That meant that he had to spend a great deal more time over in the Green Forest, where from a safe hiding place he could watch the hole in that tree, than he really wanted to.

"You are the handsomest bird I have ever seen," he declared.

Every once in a while Peter would go down to Paddy the Beaver's pond for a chat with Beauty. Every time he saw Beauty he admired him more. "You are the handsomest bird I have ever seen," he declared.

"You flatter me," replied Beauty. "But it was plainly to be seen that he was much pleased."

"No," said Peter, "I am not flatterer. I really mean it. Did I understand you to say that you were hatched from an egg in a hole in a tree?"

"Something of the sort," replied Beauty.

"How did you get down to the water?" asked Peter.

Beauty chuckled. "The same way that those ducklings of mine will get down," said he, and his eyes twinkled. "It's mean of you not to tell me," replied Peter. "Anyway, I'm going to see how those ducklings of yours come down."

"I hope you will," replied Beauty. "You'll enjoy seeing them."

So it was that Peter pretty nearly lived over in that part of the Green Forest. He was seldom very far away from that tree which was the home of the Wood Ducks. And then one morning his patience was rewarded. He saw the queerest sight. It was so queer that he fairly caught his breath watching it. It was the young Wood Ducks leaving their home in the hollow tree.

BOTH SIDES READY FOR WALKER TRIAL TODAY

Motion To Quash Indictment Against Ex-Banker To Be Heard.

Macon, Ga., May 5.—(AP)—United States District Attorney W. A. Bootle, as the prosecutor, and Wallace Miller, former assistant district attorney, as attorney for the defense, announced tonight that they were ready for the trial of John D. Walker in federal court Monday.

Walker is charged with embezzlement, it being alleged that he appropriated $9,000 of City of Sparta sinking fund bonds, which were being held by the First National Bank of Sparta, of which he was president, and hypothecated them in Atlanta.

While the trials set for federal court Monday morning, the main issue will not come up until Judge Alex Akerman, of Orlando, Fla., disposes of a motion from Walker's lawyer to quash the indictment on the ground that it is void under the statute of limitations.

Toured World. Walker claims that he has never been a fugitive, though he admits that he has toured the world, living in the Orient, in Canada, in Texas and many other places, under assumed names most of the time until his arrest in New York last November.

The government has more than twenty witnesses from all parts of the country, some coming from Canada, it is understood, to support its claim that Walker has been a fugitive. That appears to be an important point in the motion to quash the indictment.

The defense also has a large number of witnesses from various parts of the country.

Wife With Walker. Mrs. Ada P. Walker, the former wife of an Athens jeweler, with whom Walker left the state in 1918, who arrived here Saturday, spent most of today with her husband at the Bibb county jail. Walker stated that two of his sons would be with him also during the trial.

The case has attracted so much attention that it is anticipated that the federal courtroom will be filled to capacity when the trial begins. Walker was at one time head of a chain of banks in Georgia and was prominent in the political and religious affairs.

Stomach So Bad She Lived on Malted Milk

"My stomach was so bad I could not eat anything and had to live on malted milk. Now, thanks to Adlerika, I eat anything I want."

Mary Dees.

The simple mixture of glycerin, buckthorn bark, etc. (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLED action. It acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that poisoned the system for months. It clears GAS and sourness from the stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis and rheumatism.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will surprise you the great amount of poisons Adlerika brings out—you would never believe they were in your system. In chronic constipation, GAS, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Send for FREE check-board. "A population of 500,000 by 1932" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

The Constitution's Weekly Business Review

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

Varellas Restaurant Well Equipped in Ideal Location

Atlanta is noted for its many good restaurants. Due to this city's location and splendid rail connections, the best fruits and vegetables can be found here any day in the year. Before the late fruits and vegetables shipped here from the north and west begin to get scarce or high in price, the new Florida fruits and vegetables or berries come in, and the Atlanta visitor can most always have the choice of the best in the food markets. The two Varellas brothers, James and Andrew, upon their first visit to Atlanta several years ago, recognized Atlanta's advantages in this line, and after a brief survey of the city opened up a modern restaurant here. Due to the ever-changing skyline of Atlanta, have they been forced to move three times, yet their faith and success in Atlanta has been such that they keep step with the march of progress of this fast-growing city and they establish in larger and more pretentious quarters each time. Last month they took over the well-known and equipped restaurant formerly known as the Piccadilly Coffee Shop with an entrance on Peachtree street and another on Carnegie way, opposite the Carnegie library.

The Varellas brothers know the restaurant business and furnish the best in foods at all times. They are accommodating and see that each individual gets good service and is made to feel that he is welcome at any time from 6 a. m. to 12 o'clock at night. In their new location they are equipped to take care of family parties and banquets on short notice, and they extend a welcome to all old and new friends in or out of town to come by at any time they may need a small lunch or a good, substantial meal.

In their new location, the Varellas brothers are located where street car traffic is heaviest. One hundred and twenty-eight cars pass their doors every hour. As they are located on the former historical site of the "House That Jack Built," they are in the center of the hotel and theater district and already patrons of both who want a meal in the off hours have found them. The tourist or late auto driver will find that the variety of food and the splendid way it is cooked, as well as the very reasonable price asked, will justify going to Varellas when he wants something good to eat.

Sunshine Peanut Butter Co. Ships First Car From State

Sunshine Peanut Butter is manufactured from American-grown peanuts. All nuts used in the manufacture of Sunshine peanut butter are selected, hand-picked and are of the best grade that it is possible to obtain. In fact, the peanuts used in the manufacture of Sunshine peanut butter are grown in the south, and noted for quality as well as quantity, and are recognized as the best peanuts grown the world over. Every peanut that is used in the manufacture of Sunshine peanut butter is bleached and the red skin or husk is removed. After this process is finished the peanut runs through a splitting machine and the heart (or sprout) of the peanut is removed. The heart in the peanut is the germ and contains a poisonous substance which is not palatable.

Sunshine peanut butter in its original package is guaranteed to keep in perfect condition in any climate and the consumer is assured that Sunshine peanut butter is a pure peanut product and makes a perfect spread until consumed.

Sunshine peanut butter is manufactured under a scientific process and from an especially prepared formula and contains nothing other than the pure peanut oil and natural peanuts. Medical scientists have pronounced peanut as one of the most wholesome and healthful food products to be obtained.

This product contains a food value, and is a food that the most delicate child can eat at any and all times.

with full assurance that it will not be harmful in any way but will build up the system and make strong muscles.

Peanut butter is said to have over double the caloric value of beef; six times greater than potatoes; six times greater than rice; greater than bread, flour and all vegetables. It contains vitamin "A" in abundance, vitamin "B" and vitamin "C."

Sunshine peanut butter is packed in all size glass containers that are sanitary while containing the peanut butter and are useful on the table after the glass is empty. The Sunshine Peanut Butter Company now operates in six of the southern states, including Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida, North and South Carolina.

Sunshine peanut butter is made in a large, well-ventilated building at 155 Peters street, S. W. The proprietor, F. D. Terry, has spent nearly a third of a century in the selling of peanuts and peanut products, and makes a daily inspection of the plant to see that everything is handled in the cleanest possible manner.

The climax of the company's sales was reached last week when it shipped over the Georgia railroad and through the efforts of the Sunshine Peanut Butter Company, the first solid carload of peanut butter ever to be shipped from Georgia. Much credit for this sale is due to John Taylor, the sales manager. Mr. Taylor is one of the leading peanut butter salesmen in the south, and through his efforts the Sunshine Peanut Butter Company buys three carloads of glasses every week.

FORD CAR OWNERS ENJOY FACILITIES OF CLYDE LANGFORD

Ford owners in Atlanta enjoy perhaps the finest, most modern and up-to-date sales and service establishments of any city in the south. Among outstanding dealers in this section is the Clyde Langford Motor Company, whose home is located at 231 South Pryor street. This company serves owners for the south side, including many fleet operators whose service requirements have to be met promptly. This company, under the direction of Clyde Langford, president, has come to the front at a phenomenal gain in the past few years and today enjoys a large patronage in every department.

Mr. Langford has surrounded himself with some of the best men to be had for work in his various departments. The sales staff is on a par with any and the service and parts departments are on the same plane.

With the introduction of the new Ford Model "A," this company made many changes in the arrangement of its plant. Every member was sent to sales and service schools conducted by the Ford Motor Company. Mr. Langford has kept the idea of Ford high standards in every respect, and it is even more reflected in the policies of his used car department, where only after careful reconditioning do the cars get on the floor for resale.

"By August 1, if the present demand keeps up, we will exceed by far the first seven months of 1928—or the total sales of any previous year," Mr. Langford says. "This condition is indicative of the public's opinion of the new Ford Model 'A' car that was introduced to the public 18 months ago."

"Never before in my experience in the automobile business has my company had such a demand for cars as

at the present time. To meet this in both the sales and service departments we have worked and planned months ahead, and today we believe our establishment offers Ford users the very finest to be had.

"We are particularly proud of the many fleet owners that our repair shop serves, and cordially invite inspection by anyone at any time. A ring on the phone will bring one of the new Model 'A' cars to your home or office for a demonstration."

PLINK! YOU HAVEN'T BEEN TO A MEETING FOR OVER A WEEK. WE WANT YOU TO COME UP TO THE CLUBHOUSE, FOR OUR MEETING NOW. WE ALL CAME DOWN TO ACT AS YOUR BODYGUARD.

ALL RIGHT! I'M NOT AFRAID OF THE PELHAMS WHEN I'M WITH YOU.

NOW! ALL TOGETHER!

CHARGE 'EM FELLOWS! SAVE THE CLUBHOUSE!

LOOK AT 'EM, HAWKINS! THEY'RE TRYING TO PUSH OUR CLUBHOUSE INTO THE RIVER!

STAND BACK, YOU PELHAMS! NOBODY IS GOING TO BUTT IN ON THIS FIGHT! IF THERE MUST BE A FIGHT, IT'S GOING TO BE FAIR AND SQUARE.

WHEN BRIGGEN AND HIS GANG SAW US COMING THEY LINED UP FOR A FIGHT. BEFORE WE COULD SAY ANYTHING THE RED HEAD PICKED UP A BIG STICK AND STARTED FOR LINK.

SKINNY AND THE RED HEAD STOOD FACE TO FACE. "PUT DOWN THAT CLUB, MONK BRIGGES!" SAID LINK. BUT THE RED HEAD RAISED IT, LIKE HE WAS GOING TO HIT LINK OVER THE HEAD.

CONTINUED TOMORROW.

Allahabad, India, May 5.—(United Press.)—Police were seriously concerned tonight with an investigation of a threat to "blow 100 Europeans sky-high" which was received by the newspaper Pioneer here yesterday.

The newspaper received a re-broadcast of a radio signal from "The Hindustan Republican Army."

It said: "One bright Saturday afternoon in the near future, a hundred Europeans will be blown into the air while in their club by our army, which has branches throughout India."

The poster also said "Every European must be shot down with Russian revolvers. Blood will flow like water, but it will be worth wading through the blood of the revolution."

Police regarded the poster as extremely important.

The importance of MARKETABILITY in a Bank's Bond Account

WHEN a bank needs funds it should be able to liquidate its secondary reserve promptly. The proper proportion of readily salable bonds to hold can be determined by the individual requirements of the bank. Each banker knows the average seasonal and emergency demand for ready funds in his own community and should build his investment reserve accordingly.

Affording sound security and satisfactory yield—
—enjoying an active market with narrow price fluctuation due to early maturities—Short Term Notes meet banking requirements for more liquid secondary reserves. Each week The Equitable issues a selected list of these securities. For a copy, call or write our local representative, who is in constant contact with The Equitable's main office in the center of Financial New York.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

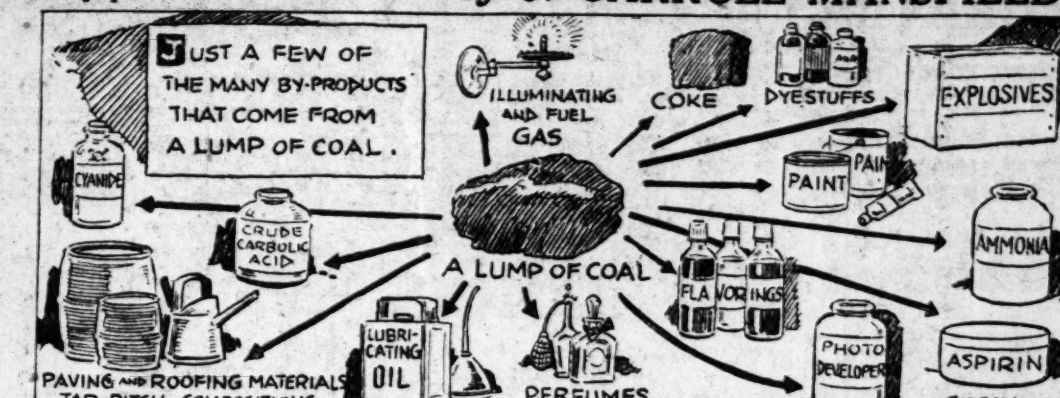

FOR A LONG TIME COAL WAS CONSIDERED OF VALUE MERELY AS A FUEL, AND THE MANY OTHER SOURCES OF WEALTH TO BE OBTAINED FROM IT WERE OVERLOOKED. ONE OF THE FIRST IMPORTANT BY-PRODUCTS MADE FROM COAL WAS COKE. COKE, A FUEL, IS COAL FROM WHICH ALL THE VOLATILE, GASEOUS PORTION HAS BEEN DISTILLED BY HEATING.

HERE ARE MANY VALUABLE SUBSTANCES CONTAINED IN COAL THAT WERE WASTED OR ESCAPED IN THE ORDINARY COKE OVEN. TODAY BY-PRODUCT COKE OVENS EXTRACT EVERY BIT OF USEFUL MATTER FROM THE COAL.

The Story of American Industry. Coal and its By-products.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE MODERN BY-PRODUCT COKE OVEN REDUCES COAL TO FOUR ELEMENTS—COKE, GAS, TAR, AND PITCH. FROM EACH OF THESE ELEMENTS COMES A NUMBER OF BY-PRODUCTS. FROM TAR COMES LIGHT, MEDIUM AND HEAVY OIL, REFINED TAR AND PITCH, AND FROM THESE

IN TURN MANY OTHER SUBSTANCES ARE PRODUCED. THE REMARKABLE PART OF IT IS THAT AFTER ALL THE BY-PRODUCTS HAVE BEEN EXTRACTED FROM COAL, THE PORTION THAT IS LEFT IS A BETTER FUEL THAN THE COAL AS IT CAME FROM THE MINE IN ITS ORIGINAL STATE.
